"DOLLY DIMPLES" TRIO HAS HEARING IN COURT

Prosecution Tells How Game of Alleged Swindlers Was Worked in Ogden.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—Before Police Judge J. M. Neff this afternoon the state finished its direct testimony in the preliminary hearing of the "Dolly Dimples" outfit on the charges of conspiracy to defraud William Glasman, proprietor of the Evening Standard, out of $300, and of obtaining money under false pretenses. The defense will begin its testimony Thursday morning.

Among the witnesses examined were Glasman, F. J. Van Ness, an employee of the Standard, and Miss Beatrice Musser. Glasman testified as to the rules governing the contest Van Ness testified as to the lines outlined in The Tribune this morning. Van Ness said that Miss Musser was attached to the Standard to get $100 of the $300, $75 of which he was to keep, $25 of which he was to give to Miss Musser, and the outfit was to have the $200.

Miss Musser admitted that she received only $25 for capturing "Dolly Dimples" and testified that she would not go into the agreement until after she had gotten her mother's consent, believing that it was in her right. The defense attempted to have the charge made the prosecution elect on which charge it would proceed, but Judge Neff refused to rule on the matter until he had heard more of the testimony.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—After remaining out for about an hour, the jury in the district court hearing of the state against Alexander Waters, charged with an assault with intent to commit murder, returned a verdict of guilty of assault with a deadly weapon late this afternoon. The extreme penalty is a sentence of five years in the state penitentiary, the payment of $1,000, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Judge Howell set December 21 as the date for passing sentence. Waters stabbed Frank La Burtus, a member of his race, in a quarrel at a negro dive on Twenty-fifth street, Monday evening, October 18. Both had been quarreling when Waters drew his knife and stabbed La Burtus several times. Waters declared that he had acted in self defense.

GUILTY OF ASSAULT WITH DEADLY WEAPON

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—Claiming that A. E. Eastman and Mrs. A. E. Eastman are indebted to him in the sum of $500, the motion picture company of Ogden filed in favor April 5, 1909, a writ of habeas corpus in the district court to collect the amount with interest at 10 per cent.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—An information charging Henry Nelson with forgery was filed in the district court today by District Attorney Harris. On December 13 Nelson is said to have forged the name of E. Newman on a check for $12.40 and collected the money.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—"The Traveling Salesman," which goes to Salt Lake City Thursday night, played to a capacity house at John Cort's new theater here tonight.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—Licenses to marry were issued by the county clerk to the following today: William A. Hancock and June E. Blakeley, both of Ogden; Ralph F. Scott, St. Joseph, Mo., and Winifred Craig, Davis City, Mo.; John A. Gill, Willard, and Stella V. Alfred, Roy.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 22.—The hearing on the Huntsville election contest began in the district court last week and continued until today. The contest began on January 8 by mutual consent.

PARK CITY DEPARTMENT

Office, Dewey Theater. Both Phones 325.

Special to The Tribune. PARK CITY, Dec. 22.—The election contest between M. J. McGill, Democrat, and J. W. Thompson, Republican, which came up in the district court yesterday, was decided in favor of J. W. Thompson. The trouble arose in the sixth voting district of the Park City precinct in the last city election. When the unofficial returns came in they showed that M. McGill had received a majority of nine votes, but on the official canvass J. W. Thompson had received a majority of one vote, and it was argued that the mistake had occurred in District No. 6, because of a difference in the tally sheets, which showed a discrepancy of ten votes which showed.

When the matter was brought before the district court, Judge D. Lewis refused to allow a recount, because the ballot box of District No. 6 had not been properly sealed, and therefore the official canvass giving Mr. Thompson a majority of one vote would have to stand. The Democrats are much chagrined over the outcome of the contest, but it means that the control of the city council will be in the hands of the Republicans.

Charles Hartwell, son of L. B. Hartwell of this city, passed away this morning at 5 o'clock at the family residence on Lower Main street, after an illness of ten days. Mr. Hartwell was a popular and was a prominent member of the high school. At the time of the fatal illness, Sunday, December 19, he was working in the mill and was contracted with pneumonia, which proved fatal.

Hartwell was 18 years of age, having been born in Park City in 1891, and lived all his life here. He leaves a father and mother, three brothers, two sisters and a host of friends. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Miss Frances Shields of Salt Lake is visiting friends in the city. Mrs. W. W. Sanders of Salt Lake is in this city visiting with relatives and friends.

Airship with Searchlight Startles Citizens of Worcester

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 22.—Flying at a speed of from thirty to forty miles an hour, a mysterious airship tonight appeared over Worcester, hovered over the city for about two hours and then returned to cut four circles above the city, using a searchlight of tremendous power to illuminate the persons through the streets who watched the mysterious visitor. The airship remained over the city for fifteen minutes all the time at a height which most observers set at about 2,000 feet, too far to enable even its precise shape to be defined. The dark mass of the ship could be dimly seen.

The course of the airship's visit, Wallace E. Tillinghast, a Worcester man who recently claimed to have invented a dirigible and then disappeared, finally heading first to the south and then to the east.

Special to The Tribune. SPANISH FORK, Dec. 22.—Matthew Creer, familiarly known as "Mat" Creer, died at his home early this morning. Mr. Creer attended the funeral service at the home of Mrs. Thompson and was apparently in his usual health. The cause of his death is somewhat of a mystery, and a coroner's jury has been empaneled to ascertain, if possible, the cause.

Special to The Tribune. SANTIQUIN, Dec. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tietjen, a young couple who were lately married, lost all their earthly possessions in a fire. While Mrs. Tietjen had gone to the home of her parents, about two blocks away from her home, her husband, being at the same time at the home of his father, the house caught fire from the stove and was burned to the ground.

BARBER-OODEN CASE

TO SUPREME COURT

By Agreement of Counsel, No Further Proceedings Will Be Had in Idaho.

Special to The Tribune. BOISE, Ida., Dec. 22.—Stipulations were today entered into between Peyton Gordon and A. B. Jackson, counsel for the government, and C. T. Bundy, A. A. Fraser and James H. Hawley, counsel for the defendants in the case of the United States against Barber and Ooden, which provides that the federal courts in this case will transfer any further litigation to the Idaho courts, so that the trial of the defendants will not take place on next Monday, December 27, as set, and will transfer any further litigation in the form of an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

In this stipulation it is agreed that a nolle and order of dismissal shall, under consent of the court, be entered in the case of the defendants. It is further provided that the order or ruling made on either shall be deemed to have been made on both. The stipulation does not affect the fourth count which the defendants is to be dropped unceremoniously by the department of justice, but on the fourth count the department of justice will attempt to try the defendants on the first and third counts, the latter involving the case of the defendant, Judge Barber, who is charged with the violation of the statute of limitation, but this count involves the fourth count which was dropped between sixty and seventy, which the government built its case upon.

Special to The Tribune. BRIGHAM CITY, Dec. 22.—Upon the opening of the Box Elder high school on January 3, a practically new faculty will take charge of the school. The present faculty has had all kinds of grief since the opening of the school in September of the last year, and only three of the members differed very materially with that of Principal A. E. Neff. The teachers who will leave the school are Miss Florence Compton, W. P. Day and Hyrum E. Smith. Mr. Neff has been dropped as principal, but will still be retained as a visiting teacher during the rest of the school year.

Nothing was known about this trouble until the school after the holidays. When the three teachers who were opposed to Mr. Neff appeared at a meeting of the board and made an ultimatum asking for the release of Mr. Neff. The faculty had been out of harmony with each other continuously since the opening of the school. After the holidays labored with these teachers for some time Messrs. Day and Smith finally proposed to the board that they be released from their positions. Mr. Neff's resignation was accepted after the close of the school for the holidays. All the efforts of the board and the faculty to maintain peace and harmony in the faculty were in vain, and it became evident that the school would be closed for very much needed, whereupon Day and Smith were notified that their services would be dispensed with at the close of the school for the holidays.

The board of education has secured the services of A. M. Merrill and C. V. Corbett, Logan and Ralph R. Woolley of Ogden.

NEW TARIFF LAW NOT ALL SATISFACTORY

American Oil Exporters Are Alarmed in Great Decrease in Amount of Trade.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Alarmed by a drop from $1,000,000 to $250,000 in mutual oil exports to France in a month, American oil exporters have begun a movement to induce congress to renew with the French government the reciprocity treaty that expired on October 31. Exporters also hope for the renewal of the treaty with Spain, a large importer of American oil, which will expire on August 31, 1910.

Exporters in Canada under the operation of the new tariff law have not been compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, but indications are that they will show relatively as great a falling off in oil exports as those in France.

Notwithstanding the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty with France, reports to the bureau for November, the first month under the new order of things, show larger totals in both imports and exports than in the corresponding month of last year. Raw cotton, which is imported into France free of duty, and hence is not affected by tariff changes, is largely responsible for the increase in exports, while oil works twenty years old and over, admitted free under the new law, shows a decrease in imports, responsible for the increased imports.

Less Champagne Coming. The falling off in imports of champagne from France, due to the increase in tariff, was most striking in November, 1909, when imports from France amounted to $584,674 in November, 1908, to $58,082 in November, 1909.

A careful compilation of figures covering the first month of the operation of the new commercial relations between France and the United States, and prepared for the Associated Press by the bureau of statistics, as follows: Exports from the United States to France in November, the first month following the termination of the reciprocity agreement, showed a decrease in both imports and exports than in November of last year. The total value of exports of domestic products to France in November, 1909, was $1,000,000, against $7,953,072 in November, 1908, this advance being due in part to higher prices.

The special trade agreements in existence between France and the United States, which terminated October 31, 1909, gave to certain articles entering France from the United States the minimum tariff rate of that country and to certain articles entering the United States from France special rates of duty, and the termination of these agreements made these articles subject to the maximum or general tariff rates in the United States.

The more important articles from the United States upon which the French rates of duty were advanced, as shown by a recent statement of the tariff division of the bureau of manufacturers, were petroleum, crude, an increase of 100 per cent in the rate of duty; refined, an increase of 100 per cent; heavy oil, an increase of 33 per cent; various grades of fruits, ranging from 33 per cent to 100 per cent; canned meats, 33 per cent; manufactured and prepared pork meats, 100 per cent; and coffee, 121 per cent.
